Aircraft Carriers To Leave Hainan

WASHINGTON (INS). — President Eisenhower said today that the U. S. will soon withdraw its two aircraft carriers from the Hainan Island Area but warned Red China that we will continue to defend ourselves wherever we have a legitimate right.

The president told a news conference we are perfectly certain that the American planes which shot down two Red Chinese aircraft were not only where they should be but on legitimate business.

He added that we do not mean to be impulsive in such matters as charged by some of our allies, but declared emphatically that we do mean to defend our rights.

Mr. Eisenhower said he expects that the two carriers ordered to join in a search for surviors of the British Airliner shot down by Red Chinese planes will leave the area momentarily.

He noted that their task is finished, but said he did not know exactly when the commanding admiral in the area plans to pull them off the rescue patrol.

The president told newsmen that incidents like the Hainan plane attacks always cause deep concern and deep study. He related the sequence of events which led up to the shooting down of the two Red aircraft by American carrier-based planes.

The chief executive stressed that it was not our purpose to provoke any incident but rather to participate in rescue operations.

As summer is fulfillment of the promise of the spring, so let my life, O God, show increase of the fruits of thy Spirit. Let thy gracious and patient dealing with me now yield in response love, joy, peace, righteousness, and kindness. Mercifully forbid that the blight of bitterness, or the rot of selfishness shall deprive thee of satisfaction in thy child, the world of my service, or myself of my true destiny: through Christ. Ft. Worth Intruder Cuts Throat Of Young Lady From Collin County

The victim, Miss Juanita Mallow, formerly of Collin County, a clerk at Continental National Bank, was reported recovering. Her throat wound was sewed up, and she was given blood transfusions.

The intruder entered the brunette's ground level garage apartment, in the rear of 2923 Travis, by picking the hook off a screen door. Miss Mallow said she did not hear the prowler until he awakened her by warning:

"Don't yell or I'll hurt you."

◆ ◆ ◆

Threat Ignored.

Her landlady, Mrs. Leo Craver, 68, who lives in the two-story brick home in front of the apartment, said Miss Mallow's screams awakened her. Mrs. Craver' tenants all call her "Ma."

"Help, Ma, Help!" Miss Mallow shouted to her landlady.

"What's wrong?" Mrs Craver asked.

Mrs. Carver said she ran to the back yard to find Miss Mallow stumbling from her apartment. The intruder had fled immediately after he slashed Miss Mallow's throat.

Lost Much Blood.

Hospital attendants, reported that the knife missed vital organs in Miss Mallow's throat, but she suffered from loss of blood. The operation, begun at 1:30 a. m., was to sew up the wound and replace the blood. She was on the operating table nearly an hour.

Mrs. Craver said Miss Mallow had lived at the apartment for about a year. Two years ago, Miss Mallow moved to Fort Worth from McKinney.

Detective D. S. Harris said the victim told him she did not see the knife during the attack. She said darkness prevented her from being able to tell whether her attacker was a Negro or white man.

◆ ◆ ◆

Hammer Is Found.

Police found a blood-covered hammer on the victim's bed. But they theorized that the blood came from the knife wound. There was no indication that the hammer was used during the attack.

Mrs. Craver said Miss Mallow had not gone out last night. She retired about 10 p. m.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verice Mallow, Rt. 3, McKinney.

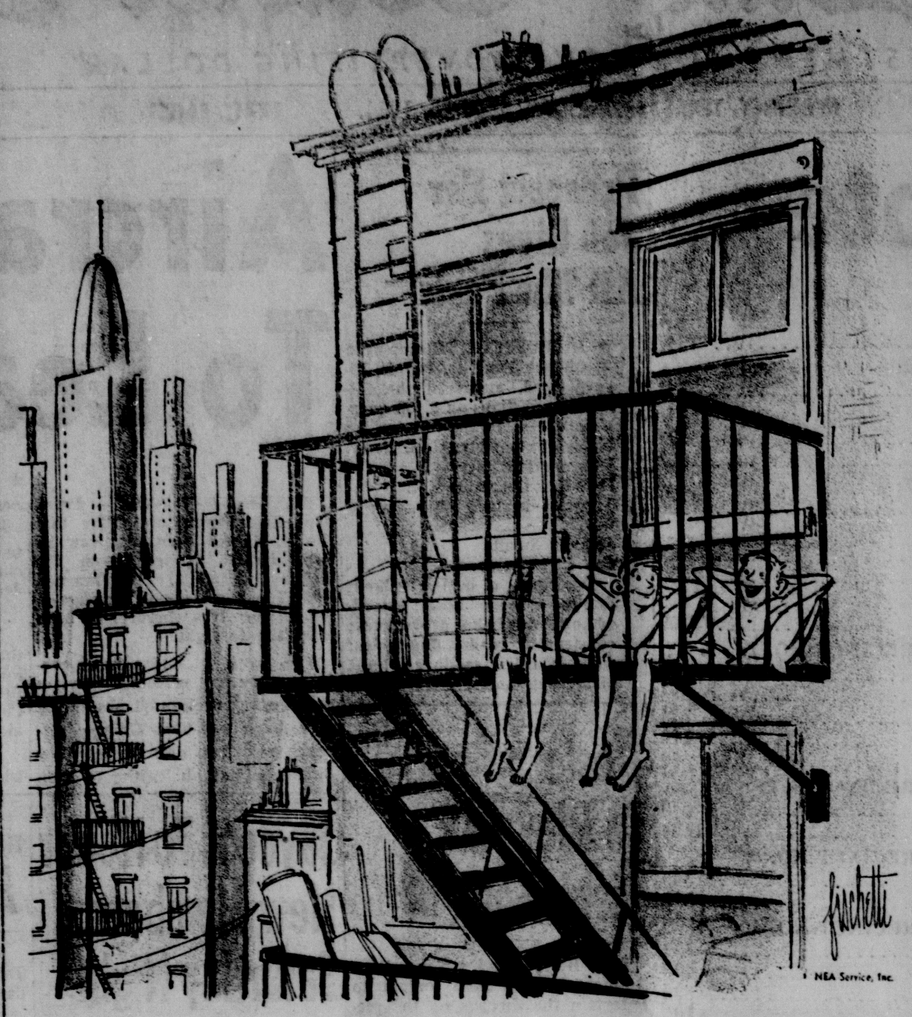
"Boy, This Is Livin'"



ASSIGNMENT AMERICA

BY LAURA Z. HOBSON

(Copyright 1954 By International News Service)

FORT RILEY Kansas. (INS). — "Each year the army chooses about 2 percent out of 100,000 officers," said First Lt. John Adams Wickham of the 10th Infantry Division "and sends them to various colleges and schools—I'm one of the lucky 2 percent this year."

He was leaving next morning for two years at Harvard, to take his PHD in political sciences. I'd seen the blond, blue-eyed young man a lot since our arrival, for he was one of our host's two aides, and as I listened to his story and his plans, I thought, "He's one of the ones born to be lucky."

A descendant of great John Adams, Second President of the U. S., son of an Ohio lawyer, he was born at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., in 1928, and at 18 went to West Point. In 1950, after graduation he was sent to Berlin with the 6th Infantry; there the commanding officer, then Colonel P. D. Ginger, took him on his staff.

"When General Ginder got his first star," Lt. Wickham said, "he cabeled he wanted me in Korea as his aide, but the army said no. I volunteered, but the war ended before I got there. I became a paratrooper later, with the 11th Airborne, and I made ten jumps."

I asked how he felt about the ten, scared, not scared, or what?

"I liked it." He said, laughing "The psychiatrist at West Point said maybe I wasn't so sane liking to jump. Anyway, last January down at Camp Polk, I finally became General Ginder's aide. Now that's about over."

I told him the fine things the General had said about his ability.

"I'm a dedicated man," the lieutenant replied flatly, surprising me a little. "What I have to offer is the best in army life, because I am dedicated."

Did he ever have any conflict about staying in the army I wouldn't quote him. I said, if he'd rather not, but certain things he'd said now and again had made me wonder.

"I've had plenty of conflict, and you can say so," he said surprising me again. "John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner in Germany when I was there, is a family friend—he urged me to go to Harvard business school and into business. He's in banking now.. that was a big one to think over. But we've got to have a good army —that's where I belong."

Needing no prompting, he went on to the minus sides of an army career. "The curse of seniority," he said. "I can't be promoted to Captain, no matter how good I am, until I've lived long enough. That ought to change, if the army's going to draw good men in peacetime.

"There ought to be more pay, a larger sense of achievement," he raced on. "Better housing — it's frightful now for family life, and stability of assignment, so a man can settle in one place and raise children with some continuity.

"The army just has to offer more incentives—enhance the prestige of the soldier. But in peacetime, he's a Tommy Atkins, a nobody—rank doesn't help him much either."

Once more I asked if he'd prefer not being quoted. "Don't hold back a word," he said. "This should be told over and over, until things improve enough to attract the best men—and then hold them. Out of my own class of 672 men, 50 died in Korea, but 60 more resigned, to go into other fields."

Now Lt. John Adams Wickham. After he gets his PHD, he's all set for West Point once more, to teach social science, world economics, and cultural background of other lands, to new crops of West Pointers.

"The soldier diplomat," said this positve young man of 26, "is going to be essential in this world. Perhaps I can help turn out a few."

I wished him well at Harvard, and after. And I thought, "not just lucky. Dedicated, as he said."

WASHINGTON FARMROUNDUP

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE FULL LEASED WIRE

WASHINGTON (INS). — The Agriculture Department estimated today there will be a sharp increase in consumption of U. S. cotton in the 1954-55 marketing year—but not enough to rule out the need for production controls.

In an official report, the department estimated total sales of cotton, for the new year beginning August 1, at 13 million 700 thousand bales. It was estimated that total consumption of cotton in the season now ending would be 12 million 300 thousand bales.

This increase in total use of cotton will not however, wipe out the need for acreage controls on the 1955 crop.

Under law, the agriculture secretary must proclaim marketing quotas and acreage allotments when cotton supply exceeds normal. Normal supply is regarded as 130 percent of expected consumption and exports.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has until Oct. 15 to make his proclamation, with Dec. 15 set at the date for the national referendum in which farmers vote on controls.

[illegible] to the last report, normal supply for 1954-55 would be 17 million 800 thousand bales. Total supply—according to estimates of the 1954 crop, plus the carryover from 1953—is expected to be around 22 million 600 thousand bales.

The carryover into the new marketing year on Aug. 1 is expected to total nine million 700 thousand bales, while this year's production— with an average yield of about 300 pounds per acre—should total close to 12 million 400 thousand bales.

With the addition of imports totaling 200 thousand bales, total supply for 1954-55 would be close to 22 million 300 thousand bales.

If marketing quotas and acreage allotments are approved by cotton farmers—as they are expected to be—farmers who plant within their individual allotment will be eligible for government price supports at what ever level Benson decrees. It is expected the level will be between 80 and 90 percent of parity.

Those farmers who plant in excess of their allotments must, however pay a penalty for all excess cotton before it can be marketed.

Domestic mill consumption for the coming marketing year is expected to be about 600 thousand bales greater than domestic use in the year now ending.

THE OREGON TRAIL

That candidatial Spinster Stevenson is coaching the White House how to mind the baby.

Adlai was out in Oregon weeping 48-caliber tears over the melancholy state of the incarcerated incumbents.

Steevey went to the Northwest for a better look at the Southeast. For the first time in forty years there is danger of Oregon sending a Democratic Senator to Washington. Now you know why Adlai gave his sobbing muscles a workout.

Senator Wayne Morse is in the Senate but he is polishing no hood river apples. He runs as independent as hair on the back of the neck.

Steevey claimed Morse was a Republican as long as he could stand it. But he doesn't explain why Morse never became a Democrat. The switch has been made by politicians in the prime of their ambitions.

The problems in Oregon are tidewater oil reserves, natural resources, hydro-electric power, snake River Dam, irrigation, low level dams, too much starch in neck-bands and squatters sovereignty in drugstore telephone booths.

He also mentioned that Harry Truman had an car for music critics, the administration for double-parking tea-wagons at five o'clock, said the greatest surplus was republican campaign promises and drove off in a four-wheeled huff.

There's one gimmick you can guarantee about Adlai. When he starts viewing with alarm he goes wide screen.

This Steevey fellow is one of the best talkers running loose in the land. But we agree with Tom Payne that these are times that try men's solos.

He called upon all patriotic Democrats to help Ike Eisenhower out.

You can take that one two ways. Straight or with sweet spirits of ammonia.

We know that Ike will accept all the Democratic advice that doesn't assist him out.

Prison Officials Wait For Turn In Hunger Strike

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (INS).—Washington State prison officials continued to sit tight today and wait for some 1500 hunger striking inmates at the prison to give up.

The hunger strike, now in its third day, was described by Warden John Cranor as "one of those things that happen in prison and no one can explain."

There has been no violence and prison routine is normal except for cancellation of work parties.

Cranor said no organized group has accepted his invitation to explain the cause of the strike, which started with about half the prison's population Monday noon and included all but a handful by yesterday morning. Then Cranor closed down the kitchens, saying: "You can't compel a man to eat. We are going to just sit tight."

He indicated, however, he thinks most of the convicts stored up a supply and therefore aren't suffering too great hunger pangs as yet.

Miss Anderson Is Honoree At Luncheon

Honoring Miss Gloria Anderson, bride-elect of John Richard Coffee, of Big Spring, Mrs. Jack Ryan and Mrs. Frank Gurney entertained with a beautifully appointed buffet luncheon at 1 o'clock, Monday, in the Ryan home on North Waddill Street.

Miss Anderson's selected colors of blue and white, were used most effectively by the hostesses throughout the home. The dining table, covered in an Italian cutwork linen cloth, was centered with blue and white carnations, in a cut glass fruit stand. The smaller tables held dainty centerpieces of white blossoms and split blue carnations in milk glass containers. The buffet was arranged with leaves and blue carnations.

A delectable luncheon was served to 12 guests whose places were marked by dainty blue and white place cards in bride design.

Mrs. Ryan told a beautiful "story about a bride" after which Mrs. Gurney presented the hostess' gift of a copper chafing dish to the honoree. During the luncheon moving pictures were made of the bride-to-be.

NEWS FROM HOLLYWOOD

By EMILY BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS). — Television has become such a hazardous "do or die" profession that most big-name stars of today are heavily insured against black eyes, cracked ribs, broken shin bones and injured ego.

Unlike many movie stars, a TV performer cannot get by with using a double. It is an obvious ruse easily detected by a gimlet-eyed video audience.

Alan Young, who almost kills himself for the sake of authenticity, would rather be clawed by a lion than run the risk of having the public call him a "sissy."

The comedian recently had a run-in with the king of the jungle while rehearsing a lion-tamer act.

"I cracked the whip," he said, "and the darned animal grabbed me around the leg. I was so scared I just stood there. The trainer finally rescued me. He said the lion was just being playful."

Another time a house fell down on his head and he escaped with a half-inch gash in his cranium.

Young once studied ju-jitsu for a wrestling stint, but he was the one who got all the falls.

"I was working with a Turkish guy who couldn't speak a word of English," he smirked. "He kept saying (in Turkish) 'I know you' and threw me over his head!"

On another occasion he jumped through a wall in a steel helmet and dislocated his neck and sprained an ankle.

"The wall was supposed to give easily, he said. "Only it didn't!"

Jimmy Durante's nose is a constant source of worry to his insurance company.

The famed proboscis' most recent shave with annihilation occurred when Liberace became overenthuasiastic and banged the top of the piano causing it to crash on Durante's you-know-what. He had it blanketed with adhesive tape for a week.

Paul Gilbert, a new NBC TV personality, charged into a boxing routine with such fervor that he wound up with a black eye at the end of round one.

Even producers are not safe on the TV obstacle course. Ed Bailey, producer of "Truth or Consequences," wound up with a bashed head when stage hands accidentally ran into him with a piece of scenery.

His emcee, Jack Bailey, has been lucky but he isn't taking any chances.

"I've doubled my insurance," he laughed, "because I know some day somebody's going to get real mad at me!"

TODAY'S ...

FASHION FLASH

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
International News Service
Woman's Editor

NEW YORK (INS). — Smart women always have had bees in their bonnets, but next fall they'll have bees in even less likely places.

Fashion accessories makers are really buzzing about bees, and how nifty they look as stylish decorations.

According to belt makers, many of the newest contoured leather belts for fall will be caught with colorful imitation bees.

Paris and New York scarves and stoles are stamped with bees in every color but bumble. And the bee-shaped earring, made of semi-precious gems and artily-wired wings, is to be a hot novelty for fall.

There will also be: Bee buttons, bee cuff-links, bee scatter pins and bee berets. All in either costume of genuine jewels.

In other words:

FASHIONS

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE
International News Service
Woman's Editor

NEW YORK (INS). — Any lady wants to buy a fur coat cheap Silly Girl... they're never cheap.

But, like they keep nagging on the radio commercials, if you're planning to buy a fur coat for next fall and winter, August is the time to look into it. The prices, generally, are lower than they'll be later on. And the variety and selection, of course, are at their peak.

For women who want to take the plunge into plushness the news from the fashion center is good: shorter and narrower fur wraps are taking over the style picture—and that means there is less fur in the coat, consequently less price on the tag.

The new look in full-length furs is basically slim and straight. Like the high-style cloth coats, the furs frequently have interesting necklines, often with large collars that can be left flat on the shoulders in moderate weather and cuddled up around the chin when the mercury drops.

Many furs-of-the-future are fur trimmed. That is, black Persian lamb coats frequently have mink collars and cuffs. Broadtail may be accented with seal. This is like putting whipped cream on gravy, but the look is considered "smart" for fall.

Shorter fur wraps are slick for either sportswear or evening. And this time it's not necessarily capes or stoles—which have been so good for so long that they are a bit back-seated this year.

Instead, the chic new furs are hip-length or waist-length or thigh-length jackets. Sometimes they are fitted sleekly, in the short-haired furs. Other times they take on the new bloused look—fitted around the hips but bloused from there up to the shoulder.

Battle jackets in snooty furs are back in fashion, especially when they're whipped on casually over full-skirted evening or cocktail dresses.

Good old dark brown ranch mink and dear old black persian will never go out of style, of course, but the hot news in furs puts the accent on the newer, pliler tones for '54.

Sheared racoon, for instance, is considered smart for daytime wear in dyed shades of beige or gray. Sheared muskrat comes in a new rosey beige this season. And white mink is the glorified fur for evening— either in jacket form or as a trimming on tweed, velvet or satin cloth coats.

Growers Contract Large Numbers Legal Braceros

HIDALGO, Tex. (INS). — For the first time in the history of the lower Rio Grande Valley, growers are contracting large numbers of legal braceros. The area is the center of a huge wetback roundup which the border patrol started on July 15.

The season total of workers contracted legally through the U.S. reception center at Hidalgo was expected to reach well beyond the 45,000 mark early this week.

"The valley is going 'dry' and indications are that it will remain that way."

He explained that new orders for workers are pouring in, and the center is operating to capacity. Hiring fee to growers is $3 per worker. For recontracting, of which there has been very little thus far at Hidalgo, the fee is only $1.

The heaviest single day's operations were Sunday, when approximately 3,500 braceros were processed and furnished to growers. The daily number had reached approximately 3,200 last Thursday, and was about the same Friday and Saturday.

The reception center, operating on a two-shift basis, 14 hours a day, seven days a week, is contracting workers through the Monterrey Recruiting Center, where Yaeger says there is still a plentiful labor supply.

July is a heavy month for farm work in the lower valley. Cotton harvest is a little past the half-way mark, as the week-end total showed 180,000 bales ginned, of an estimated 1954 crop of 350,000 bales.

Yaeger said that of the total number of braceros processed at Hidalgo, less than 500 had been sent even outside the four-country valley area of Cameron, Hidalgo, Willacy and Starr Counties, much less in any number to other states. About 600 workers had been recontracted at the center by other growers, after completion of original contracts.

Further evidence that the "wetback era" is over in the valley is seen in the fact that citrus growers associations are already discussing with officials the prospects of legal contracting for fall labor requirement.

Former Collinites Write Book About Rio Grande Valley

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Stambaugh, of Austin, have written a book entitled "The Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas" which was recently published by the Naylor Company, of San Antonio.

The book has interest in Collin County since the authors, J. Lee and Lillian J. Stambaugh are both former Celina residents. In fact they were born in that Northwest Collin community and still have relatives living there. Two sisters, Miss Nannie Stambaugh and Miss Iva Stambaugh live in Celina and a brother, John Stambaugh, lives on a farm nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. Stambaugh for many years made their home in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Both were instructors in Texas schools; Mrs. Stambaugh taught history at North Texas State College, and history and English at Weatherford, De Leon, and Kerens. Mr. Stambaugh has been teacher, principal and superintendent for 29 years. During the last 21 of these years he was superintendent at the Pharr-San Juan-Alamo school, in the lower valley. He has also instructed at Pan-American College, Edinburg; A. and I. College, Kingsville; Sul Ross, Alpine, and the University of Texas, Austin. He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in World War I and a Major in World War II.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stambaugh are graduates of the University of Texas—she with a B. A. and Phi Beta Kappa key, and he with a B. A. and an M. A.

Attorney To Be Charged With Shoving Justice

ST. PAUL, Minn., (INS). — A Minneapolis attorney will be charged today with shoving a suburban St. Paul Justice of the Peace into a window and striking his son.

The lawyer, Arthur A. Sturdevant, 56, was arrested in his Minneapolis home last night and was being held in the Ramsey County jail at St. Paul.

Sturdevant was accused by Nic Lebens, 81-year-old Justice of the Peace in the St. Paul suburb of Roseville, of assaulting him and his son, Lawernce, 47.

Lebens told police the attorney came to his home to seek a change of venue in a case.

The justice reported he turned down the plea for lack of knowledge of the case and Sturdevant then shoved him, sending his elbow through a window.

The justice added that when his son rushed to his aid, the lawyer struck him on the jaw and the pair tussled until Sturdevant broke away and fled in his car.

Escape Plot By Prison Inmates Is Failed

TACOMA, Wash. (INS). — A seven-month escape plot by three unidentified Federal prisoners in the federal detention cell of Tacoma's City jail was foiled by a sudden inspection at the jail.

The shakedown revealed, among other things, a hole cut through a solid metal wall and a rope braided out of mattress materials which the plotters intended to use to lower themselves to the street from their fourth-floor cell.

Officers said the hole was too small to allow all of the trio to escape but that they learned the group intended to make a final enlargement and consequent break list night. The shakedown came yesterday afternoon.

An investigation will be held today by W. Budd Parson, U. S. Marshall in Seattle, and George Parker, inspector of federal prisons.

Last year an annex to the old building was built which included the cafetorium, and several class rooms.

The tax rate was set at Tuesday night's meeting which will be a total of $1.50 this year, 40c of which is for retirement of bonds and indebtedness, and $1.10 for operation of the schools. This is the same as last year's tax rate.

Building To Be Moved.

The Board voted to let the frame building, formerly used as a lunch room at the East Ward school, to be used by the Latin-American community in East McKinney as a community center and pre-school clinic. The building will be moved from the school campus right away.

Supt. Pearce announced plans shaping up nicely for the opening of the 1954-55 school term on September 13. A general assembly of the faculty will be held Thursday, and Friday, September 9 and 10. Most of the vacancies in the teaching staff have been filled and will be announced with assignments the latter part of August.

New Coaches Elected.

Two new coaches were elected which completes the coaching staff for this year. The new men are Joe Simpson, of Littlefield, who will coach basketball, and eighth grade football; and Grover Pierson, of Nocona, who will be "B" team coach. Other members of the regular staff are W. W. McDowell, head coach; James Boucher, assistant; Scott Johnson and Carlos Carter, seventh and sixth grade coaches, respectively.

Sellout Crowd To Attend Cohn Dinner

NEW YORK (INS). — A sell-out crowd of more than 2,000 persons is expected to attend a testimonial dinner tonight for Roy M. Cohn, recently resigned chief counsel of the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of the joint committee against Communism, sponsor of the dinner, reported that 5,000 other requests for tickets had been turned down because of lack of additional space in the Hotel Astor Grand Ballroom.

Medical Probers Make Search For Exposed Persons

LOS ANGELES (INS). — The entire force of Los Angeles city medical investigators is searching today for some 200 persons to warn them they have been exposed to typhoid-infected food which has caused one death and seven illnesses.

City Health Officer Dr. George M. Uhl said the persons were guests at a Korean wedding party June 26 in which it is believed a typhoid carrier handled rice cake eaten by all those present. Officer also are looking for the carrier.

Tim Nahn, 11, died yesterday at a hospital of typhoid. He was one of the guests at the wedding of Herbert and Diane Kang of Whittier. Two other illnesses have been diagnosed as typhoid and five others probable typhoid, all involving guests at the nuptials.

Dr. Uhl said it is difficult to contact all the wedding guests because of the language barrier and because there was no wedding list. Most of the guests are Korean.

The health officer explained that about one out of every 40 persons who has had typhoid can transmit it through food handling for the rest of his life. Carriers must be registered carriers in Los Angeles.

Dr. Uhl said exposure of the crowd threatens the largest typhoid outbreak in the city's recent history.

Communists Are "Brainwashing" German Expert

WASHINGTON (INS). — A top government authority said today that it appears the Communists are brainwashing German intelligence expert Dr Otto John in an effort to make him a new Soviet weapon in the propaganda war.

The official said all information received by the U. S. thus far leads to belief that John was lured into East Germany and did not go willingly.

John, a top official for the free German government, vanished last week and later the East Germany Communist regime claimed that he came over to them voluntarily.

The Washington source, in an intrepretation of the cloak-and-dagger mystery, noted:

1. There have been various claims concerning John, including an alleged broadcast of his voice, made by the East Germany Communist.

2. It seems significant, however, that at no time have they produced him either in a public meeting or at a news conference—which would be a familiar and expected Red technique if he had actually gone over to the Communist side voluntarily.

3. It appears, instead, that John is being given the brainwashing treatment and that the Communists are not yet ready to put him on display until he eventually knuckles under the mental torture

Dallas Doctor Shot To Death During Argument

DALLAS, Tex. (INS). — A Dallas physician was shot to death last night during an argument at the home of a friend.

He is Dr. Jack W. Sharp, 38, who, with his wife, had gone to the home of Mrs. Nona Bird to return a pistol he had borrowed.

Police said that during the visit, an argument developed between Dr. Sharp and a 38-year-old male friend of Mrs. Bird, and that the physician apparently was shot with the gun he was returning.

Dallas police are still seeking the assailant.

U. S. "Demands" China Punish Own Airmen

WASHINGTON (INS). — In one of its strongest diplomatic actions of modern times, the U. S. has "demanded" that Communist China punish the airmen who shot down an unarmed British airliner last week.

The note, acclaimed as a sign that the state department is "tired of being pushed around," also pressed the Red regime to pay damages and to guard against any similar incidents in the future.

The department's statement was labeled a "most vigorius protest," and called the attack on the British airship and the later battle in which American search planes had to shoot down two attacking Communist fighters a "barbarous and lawless" deed on the part of the Reds.

The harshly-worded note came shortly before the Soviet News Agency Tass charged that the Navy search planes were carrying out "a serious new provocation by the United States in the Far East."

The Tass statement claimed that the U. S. utilized the shooting down of the British plane in the South China Sea as an excuse for "a provocation attack aimed at maintaining a state of tension in the Far East."

In Washington, Sen. Alexander Wiley (R) Wis., Foreign Relations Committee Chairman, accused the Reds of using the "big lie" technique once more.

He commented: "They admit shooting down the British plane and then try to blame us for their ruthless conduct."

Sen. Homer Capehart (R) Ind., a member of the foreign relations group, said that "from now on this means we're going to retaliate as we should have done when the Communists attacked us over the Yalu."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Senate Probers Ask Full Report On Farm Expert

WASHINGTON (INS). — Senate investigators asked the State Department today for a full report on a Vermont farm expert who was allowed to enter the U. S. after working for the Red Chinese government.

William H. Hinton of Putney, Vt., told a surprised Senate internal security subcommittee that he lived in China for five years and was "always treated with courtesy and friendliness" by the Reds until his departure last August.

Hinton, who refused on grounds of self-incrimination to say whether he was a Communist, said he left China on an exit permit and travelled across Russia, stopping at Moscow, until he reached Red-Dominated Czechoslovakia where his American passport was renewed.

Subcommittee Chairman William E. Jenner (R) Ind., expressed amazement at Hinton's story and demanded the state department produce a copy of Hinton's passport application.

The Indiana Senator told newsmen after Hinton testified. "Fellows, this country is lost."

Jenner said the passport applications usually requires a sworn statement that the person filing for entry to the U. S. has not worked for a foreign government, but Hinton refused to say whether he told the "truth" when he applied for passport renewal.

Hinton invoked the fifth amendment and refused to answer more than a score of subcommittee questions but denied emphatically that he ever engaged in espionage.

Senator Calls For "Yes or No" On Resolution

WASHINGTON (INS). — Sen. Ralph Flanders (R) Vt., called today for a "yes or no" stand by all Senators on his anti-McCarthy resolution which he said he will bring to the Senate floor Friday.

The New Englander told newsmen that he would construe the absence of any Senator "without reason" during the showdown vote as an attempt to dodge a position on his censure resolution against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R) Wis.

Meanwhile, Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R) E. D., said he plans to call a meeting of his committee which aired the Army-McCarthy dispute, soon after the return to Washington of Sen. John J. McClellan (D) Ark.

The primary in which McClellan, sought re-nomination was held Tuesday and the Arkansas Democrat expected back today or tomorrow.

Mundt said, however, that he has not yet received a 447-page summary of testimony and a brief of the evidence in the Army-McCarthy hearings from special counsel Ray J. Jenkins.

Jenkins said in Knoxville Tuesday he has mailed Mundt and other committee members the digest and a brief setting forth the pros and cons of both sides in the dispute.

Mundt, who returned after a weekend in his home state, added that he has not yet had a chance to go through his mail. He said, however, that we doubt that the committee would want to make Jenkins' summary and brief public at this time, since the documents are to be used as a guide to the committee in writing its report.

FAIR OR FOUL

by JOHN BARRINGTON

International News Service

NEW YORK (INS). — Depending upon how one feels about being spoon-fed, a strong case can be made out either for or against the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 1954 football TV schedule.

Scanning the 12-week 15-game schedule quickly, the 30 big time teams it includes look impressive indeed. Nine of last year's top ten teams are included. Virtually every major conference champions is listed.

So are most of the teams that so far as pre-season dope can be relied upon, figure to be in the scramble for this year's national championship. Tradition, too, is represented by games like Ohio State-Michigan and Army-Navy.

Within the limitations imposed by the NCAA, the American Broadcasting Company's TV Sports Director, Les Aries, and his staff have done a remarkable scheduling job. These ground rules include no more than one appearance by any team and at least one game from each of the eight NCCA districts.

But the NCAA's television plan reflects a "let 'em eat cake" attitude that, so far as the average fan is concerned, tends to ignore human nature. The man-in-the-TV-seat would prefer a choice in the matter. He might choose cake, anyway but he'd like the feeling that he could have bread, instead, if he wanted it.

Sure, he can see Notre Dame play Southern Methodist on Dec. 4. But what if he'd like to see the Irish against Iowa or Michigan State as well. On the former Saturday, he is asked to be content with Ohio State and Michigan, which is a pretty dandy substitute but still, he may feel, not the genuine article.

And, while Notre Dame battles Michigan State in what could be the game of the year, let alone the game of the day, his TV fare must perforce be Oregon vs. Southern California.

Probably the video fan hasn't any right to squawk. He's getting football without charge, and the NCCA attitude seems to be, "so what if it isn't Notre Dame? It's still football, isn't it."

To which the answer might be that so are Jaguars and Cadillacs both automobiles but a man might have a preference about which he drives. Just an old little quirk we mortals have.

The NCCA's purpose, of course, is the frankly commercial one of protecting gate receipts against the TV monster. But there are skeptics who believe college football, were it truly an amateur, bona fide college activity (which is obviously isn't), ought not to be so sordidly money-grubbing.

And those, too, who say:

"Wait a minute, I'm a taxpayer. Part of my money goes to support state institutions of learning. Shouldn't I be entitled to see—whenever I want to on TV—the football team my money helped to buy?"

It's a question the NCCA and the TV Networks have been kicking around for five years now. Each time they come up with the same answer for the viewers—Let 'em eat cake.
